

Our email messages (including any attachments) may be privileged or confidential. If you have received it by mistake, please notify the sender by return e-mail and delete the message from your system. Any unauthorised use or dissemination of the message in whole or in part is strictly prohibited. DuFor Resins BV rejects any liability for the improper, incomplete or delayed transmission of the information contained in the message, as well as for damages resulting from the e-mail message. DuFor Resins BV cannot guarantee that the message received by you has not been intercepted by third parties and/or manipulated by computer programmes used to transmit messages and viruses.